

Veterinary Technician II - Here is a great opportunity for a highly motivated and skilled veterinary technician to join the Texas A&M Institute for Preclinical Studies team!

This position will provide research support and technical services for preclinical studies primarily utilizing large animal species.

Responsible for providing anesthesia, surgical support and post-operative care of multiple species. As an integral part of the research team, the research technician collects and maintains research data and manages the required facility operational records in accordance with standard operating procedures and applicable regulations and guidance documents.

Education/Experience:

Associate's degree in veterinary technology, biomedical science, animal science or a related area, or any equivalent combination of relevant education and experience. Two years technical experience in veterinary medicine. Requires ability to multi-task and work cooperatively with others.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer committed to diversity. Interested individuals must apply online at <https://tamujobs.tamu.edu>, Veterinary Technician II, Notice of Vacancy # 100405